Appendix A: Data Collection Methods

The data for this study were collected through a series of interviews and focus groups with participants who were selected through purposive sampling.

The interviews were conducted in a semi-structured format, allowing for a degree of flexibility in the questions asked, while still ensuring that the key topics were covered. The focus groups were conducted in a similar manner, with a set of topics to be discussed, but allowing for the participants to bring up other relevant issues.

The data collection process was carried out over a period of six months, during which time the researcher conducted a total of 15 interviews and 5 focus groups. The participants were recruited through a combination of snowball sampling and direct contact with potential participants.

The data collected was then analysed using a thematic analysis approach, which involves identifying themes or patterns in the data that relate to the research objectives. This process was carried out in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the guidelines set out by King (2008).

Appendix B: Interview Schedule

The interview schedule was developed to ensure that the key topics were covered in each interview, while also allowing for the flexibility to explore other relevant issues.

Appendix C: Focus Group Schedule

The focus group schedule was developed to ensure that the key topics were covered in each focus group, while also allowing for the flexibility to explore other relevant issues.

Appendix D: Data Collection Tools

The data collection tools used in this study included a set of interview questions and a set of focus group questions.

The interview questions were developed to explore the key themes identified in the research objectives, while the focus group questions were developed to explore the same themes in a more interactive and collaborative manner.

The data collection tools were used in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the guidelines set out by King (2008).
